

Middle Class Held Key To U.S. Economy

Pocono Manor — The economic outlook for the nation as a whole depends largely on what middle income class families do with the money already in their possession as a result of deficit financing during the past two decades, Pennsylvania savings and loan executives were told yesterday.

"The redistribution of wealth which was a figure of speech in 1932 has become an accomplished fact in 1952," it was pointed out by W. W. Townsend, president of Townsend-Skinner and Co., Inc., a New York firm specializing in economic trend research, in an address at the closing day's session of a managers' conference sponsored by the Pennsylvania Savings and Loan League.

"More than 55 per cent of today's disposable income in the form of bank balances and government bond ownership has gravitated into the hands of families with incomes between $1500 and $6000 a year, notably the organized workers and the subsidized farmers," Townsend explained.

"These are the only people who have been able to keep ahead of increased taxes and the decreased purchasing power of the dollar. Their concept of necessities and luxuries have not kept pace with their increased incomes and the excess has been placed in the thrift institutions of the country, which literally are bulging at the seams."

"It is the preference for saving over spending which has kept the nation from becoming engulfed in the well known inflation spiral and it is the very real responsibility of the managers of thrift institutions that saving be encouraged by every means possible."

Townsend compared today's economy with an automobile powered by an oversize motor.

"The driver's foot on the accelerator is down about two inches; the motor is turning over rather lazily but is generating more power than was the case in 1929. If that foot should go to the floor it would take the economy through a brick wall. If, on the other hand and for any reason, it should come off the accelerator entirely, the motor could stall in spite of the fact that it is in good mechanical condition and the tank full of gas."

"The point to be remembered," he added, "and the point, apparently which the planners in Washington do not take into consideration, is the simple fact that that foot is not their foot. It is the public's foot, and as long as men retain the right to think and to decide for themselves, what happens to that foot will be completely in the control of the people themselves. And what happens to our economy as a result of the movement of that foot is beyond the control of the planners, despite their protestations and intentions to the contrary."

"It has been said that we are engaged in a grim race between education and catastrophe," Townsend concluded. "The people who can best educate the newly rich middle income class families are the people in whom they have confidence, and there is no better evidence of their confidence in the managers of thrift institutions than their willingness to entrust their savings to them."

"Therefore, the responsibility of the savings and loan executive is not confined to the responsibility for sound management and good public relations in connection with his business. He can and he must see to it that the creditor capital he conserves today becomes the venture capital of tomorrow if the American system is to be preserved."

Local building and loan officials who attended the conference included Dr. Thomas J. Breitwieser, president of Keystone Building and Loan Association, and Spencer Cramer, secretary, and others.

Army May Ask For More Men

Washington (AP) — Secretary of the Army Pace said last night "it will be imperative . . . to ask Congress for more men" if the war in Korea continues.

He did not say how many more would be required. The United States now has nearly 3½ million men under arms in the Army, Navy and Air Force.

Pace appealed to Congress for more money and more freedom to spend it for arming than the House has voted.

He said the Army has only 20 of the 21 divisions it needs, and could not afford to expand under the 46 billion dollar ceiling the House has voted on military spending.

Senate Kills Seaway Project Measure, 43-40 Denmark Alerts Airmen Against Red Attack

Mrs. Swaine Receives Award For Outstanding Contribution To Barrett Township Community

Mountainhome — The second annual Barrett Township "appreciation award" was presented last night at Onawa Lodge here. Mrs. Lena French Swaine received the award for her outstanding contribution to the community through work in the Barrett Hospital Auxiliary.

Rev. Claude Heilenman gave the invocation for the dinner ceremonies. A series of testimonials to Mrs. Swaine's efforts on behalf of the community was led off by remarks from Harry J. Drennan, president of the selection committee.

John Henry described Mrs. Swaine's childhood and related a number of amusing incidents which had occurred during her early life.

The third speaker to honor the award-receiver was Mrs. Raymond Price who discussed the "first project" in which she and Mrs. Swaine had worked together.

This project, Mrs. Price said, was a baby clinic which the two women had begun in the election house.

Mrs. Price also described the guest's work with the hospital auxiliary and her election to the board of directors at the hospital.

Mrs. Swaine was active in the early work of the auxiliary, at which time the unit pledged and raised $10,000 as a contribution to the hospital building fund.

A plaque inscribed to Lena French Swaine—"good citizen, good neighbor, good friend"—was presented on behalf of the township committee to Mrs. Swaine by Rev. Harold MacMurray who served as toastmaster.

Mrs. Swaine accepted the award and expressed her gratitude to the many friends and members of her family who had made possible the work done in the community.

Senate Keeps Control Over 21,582 Jobs

Washington (AP) — The Senate kept Congress in control of the distribution of 21,582 jobs back home yesterday by voting down presidential plans to eliminate Senate confirmation of big town postmasters, U. S. marshals and customs collectors.

There were three separate reorganization plans and the opponents' margin of victory shrank progressively as the votes affected smaller numbers of appointments. With 49, or a majority of the full Senate, needed to kill the proposals, these were the votes in order: On 21,438 postmasters of first, second and third class, 56 to 29 or even more than required.

On 92 U. S. marshals, 55 or 28, or six more than the majority.

On 52 collectors and other customs officials, 51 to 31, a margin of only two.

The reorganization plans would have gone into effect at midnight Friday unless one house or the other adopted a resolution of disapproval.

Harriman Scores Upset Over Sen. Kefauver In Washington

Averell Harriman parlayed strong Negro support with down-the-line-for-Truman appeal to score a stunning 4-to-1 upset over Sen. Estes Kefauver in the nation's capital Tuesday.

As a prize, Harriman picked up only six delegate votes at the Democratic National Convention, but his lopsided victory over Kefauver demonstrated a surprising vote-pulling prowess and gave a boost to Harriman's bid for the presidential nomination.

Both had conducted vigorous street-corner campaigns, with Foreign Aid Chief Harriman solidly backing the Roosevelt-Truman "deal" programs and going all-out for compulsory civil rights measures.

The Washington Evening Star described the outcome as a "clear-cut administration victory in a stop-Kefauver movement" and declared it appeared to put Kefauver's front-running candidacy in "serious trouble."

It was Kefauver's second setback in 16 pre-convention primaries. Previously, he had lost out to Georgia's Sen. Richard B. Russell in the Florida primary.

Countering Harriman's strength among Negroes and federal employees, Kefauver had the endorsement of most big labor groups. The small vote he received—3,337 to Harriman's 14,075—indicated that a good many union men went fishing.

Downing Of Swedish Plane Alarms Danes

Stockholm, Sweden (AP) — Denmark joined Sweden yesterday in alerting her Air Force to do battle if fired upon by Soviet planes.

Both nations, alarmed at a show of rapidly increasing force in Northern Europe and the shooting down of a Swedish plane this week, thus served notice that they do not intend to bow to any long-range Soviet plan to make the Baltic a "Stalin lake."

Sweden tonight flatly rejected a Moscow protest that a Swedish Catalina Flying Boat, shot down Monday with seven men aboard, had invaded Soviet territory and started the shooting.

The Swedish note said only two Catalinas were flying anywhere in the area at the time, that both were unarmed and therefore could not have shot at anybody, and that "thorough investigation" had established that both stayed within international waters.

The plane that was shot down never got closer than 15 miles to Soviet territory, the note declared. Adm. E. J. C. Quistgaard, chief of the Danish Joint Chiefs of Staff, gave the alert orders to the Danish Air Force which matched similar instructions to Swedish airmen.

Adm. Quistgaard recalled that standing orders were issued last March that any Danish military units fired upon by Soviet planes or ships should shoot back at once without waiting for further instructions. He said the orders applied to an attack either inside or outside Danish territory.

Quads Born To Couple

Weymouth, Mass. (AP)—Quadruplets—three boys and a girl—were born at South Shore Hospital last night to Mrs. Marion L. Manning, 27-year-old auburn-haired wife, already the mother of three other youngsters.

Speculation that Mrs. Manning might bear quintuplets was ended a half hour after the fourth birth when hospital authorities told waiting newsmen that no more were expected.

Quadruplets occur once in every 680,000 births, according to medical sources.

The first child, a girl was, born at 10:23 p.m. The second, third and fourth, all boys, were delivered only 16 minutes apart—at 11:13 p.m., 11:24 and 11:29.

All were described as healthy, although details like weights were not immediately available at the hospital. Mrs. Manning herself was said to be doing well.

The young mother had been awaiting the births at the hospital for nearly four weeks. She entered the institution on May 24, taking the advice of her husband, John, a 35-year-old bus line operator. Manning explained that he did not want to risk a premature arrival without medical attention.

"What would I do," he said, "if they came earlier while she was at home?"

Manning stayed up until 1:30 a.m. yesterday but the information proved a false alarm. Last night, when the birth occurred, he was not to be found.

The babies were baptized by Rev. William Commans, a Catholic priest, as quickly as they were born. Hospital authorities said the first baby gave a healthy scream as the water was poured on its head.

The Manning family now numbers three girls and four boys.

Ingrid Bergman Rossellini Bears Twin Girls

Rome (AP) — Ingrid Bergman gave birth last night to husky twin girls. The babies, named Isabel and Ingrid, were about two weeks overdue but both they and Miss Bergman were described by their physician as doing well.

Roberto Rossellini was with his wife and the new arrivals at fashionable Salvatore Mundi Hospital. He had been worried over the delay.

Dr. Pier Luigi Guidotti, who assisted in the birth, said last night the twins will be baptized in the Catholic faith at the hospital in the next few days. "Rossellini was very happy,"

American Plane Accidentally Strayed From Air Corridor, Says U. S. In Reply To Reds

Berlin (AP)—United States authorities admitted in reply to a Soviet protest yesterday that an American plane strayed out of the prescribed air corridor across the Russian zone of Germany on May 21 but said it was accidental.

The reply was the first disclosure of the incident and of the Russian protest.

The Soviet protest, delivered May 26, charged that a U. S. C-47 transport plane flew over Soemmerda, Nebraska and Halle, "a considerable distance removed from the air corridor."

Maj. Gen. Lemuel Mathewson, American commandant in Berlin, made this reply: "An investigation of the facts submitted indicates that a U. S. C-47 airplane on a routine medical evacuation flight did, in fact, accidentally stray from the corridor on the day mentioned. Appropriate disciplinary action has been taken."

Washington, (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson yesterday denounced as shocking and indefensible the action of Soviet fighter planes in shooting down a Swedish rescue aircraft in the Baltic.

Voicing the first American official comment on Monday's incident which produced an outburst of protest in Sweden, the secretary told his news conference: "It is only appropriate for me to say how deeply shocked and concerned I was by this indefensible action."

Attorney Socks Drew Pearson In Aftermath Of Election Which Saw Brewster Defeated

Washington, (AP)—Columnist Drew Pearson was punched in the face yesterday by Charles Patrick Clark, Washington lawyer, in an encounter in the lobby of the Mayflower Hotel.

Witnesses said only the one punch was thrown and that it appeared to land on Pearson's right eye.

Others separated the two men and they left the hotel.

Clark told reporters he was incensed by columnist Pearson's written attack on him and his friends and on encountering Pearson in the hotel lobby, asked him to step outside. He said Pearson refused, so he popped him one anyhow.

Pearson said he had had lunch at the Mayflower and had just walked out of the dining room when Clark "jumped out," grabbed him by the arm and "swung at me without any warning."

Clark said nothing about stepping outside until the hotel detective and others had moved in, Pearson declared.

Pearson went to the U. S. district attorney's office and signed a complaint of assault against Clark. John B. Diamond, assistant D.A., authorized issuance of a warrant. This must go to a judge before a warrant actually is signed.

Pearson said that during the encounter Clark yelled: "This is what you get for what you did to Sen. Brewster."

Pearson in broadcasts and his column has called Clark a lobbyist and has said Brewster (R-Me) was friendly with Clark.

Brewster was defeated for re-nomination to the Senate in the Maine primary.

In a column published last week, Pearson said that Clark is a "lobbyist" for Spain and has "helped" wangle money for Spain at a faster rate than Franco has been able to spend it.

Firebug Sought In Blaze Which Cost Seven Lives

New York, (AP)—A firebug was suspected yesterday of touching off a Brooklyn tenement fire that killed seven persons—including four small children.

The victims were trapped in the dusty old four-story building that had no fire escapes.

Chief Fire Marshal Martin Scott said a firebug apparently set off the blaze in a second floor hallway.

To Suspend Ceilings Washington, (AP)—The Office of Price Stabilization will suspend price ceilings this weekend on whiskey and wine sold in bottles, price officials disclosed yesterday.

the doctor said. "With tears in his eyes he cried 'Isabel.'"

"Mrs. Rossellini Ingrid was very happy too. She cried when she saw her babies and was happy because they were perfect babies and just what her husband wanted."

"She was very calm as she went into the labor room. She was serene. She showed no fear."

Telephone calls clogged the hospital switchboard. Ingrid's room was filled with flowers from friends and admirers. The babies were born a half hour apart. Isabel, born first, weighed 7 pounds 5 ounces and Ingrid 8 pounds 5 ounces. Miss Berman, 35, was admitted

Upper House Ignores Plea By Truman

Washington (AP) — The Senate, paying no heed to a plea by President Truman, yesterday killed legislation authorizing this country to join with Canada in construction of the St. Lawrence seaway and power project.

It ordered, by a vote of 43 to 40, that the bill be returned to committee for further study. The action doomed any possibility of the measure again being considered at this session of Congress. However, efforts were being made to have the Senate reconsider its vote.

Besides spurning the President, the Senate turned its back on its two leading presidential aspirants—Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) and Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio). Both backed the bill in Senate speeches.

Canada, which months ago announced it would construct the seaway by itself if Congress again refused to let the United States join in the development, reacted swiftly.

Lionel Chevrier, Canada's minister of transport, reporting the Senate action to the House of Commons, said it would not interfere in the slightest with Canada's intention to proceed with the development on its own side of the St. Lawrence River.

Chevrier added that a joint Canadian-American application to the International Joint Commission for permission to develop the river's hydroelectric potential would be submitted forthwith.

Congressional permission for American participation in the power project alone is not required. The procedure in this case will be for the Canadian and American governments to ask the International Joint Commission to approve an application to build a power dam across the St. Lawrence River.

If the commission approves the application, the participating U. S. agency—most likely New York State—will then apply to the Federal Power Commission for a license to construct its half of the power project.

A letter from Truman to Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), asserting that failure of this country to participate in the $18 million dollar international seaway-power development would be "one of the worst economic mistakes" it has ever made, was read to the Senate shortly before it voted to kill the bill.

Truman warned that all-Canadian construction of the waterway would have to pay tolls on every ton of iron ore from the newly opened deposits in Labrador. He added:

"This waterway would prevent our steel mills in the Midwest from moving to the East Coast. That situation happened to the textile mills of New England and I don't want to see it happen in the case of the Midwest steel mills."

Quartet Robbed Hotels To Finance Drinking Sprees

New York, (AP)—Police said yesterday they had rounded up four young men who traveled about in an alcoholic haze, robbing hotels to get money to buy more "good liquor."

They said the gang admitted robbing five to seven hostilities, including the Emerson Hotel where last Thursday hold-up men ran elevators and switchboards while leisurely relieving 26 guests of their valuables.

The men were identified as Donald McHugh, 22; Richard Red Keogh, 23; William Destler, 23; and his brother, Arthur Destler, 24, all of Manhattan.

Police said the suspects netted about $10,000 in cash and jewelry and had spent most of it for liquor and entertainment.

Return Of Hot Weather Forecast

By The Associated Press
More hot and sticky weather is in store for much of Pennsylvania.

Northwest winds and a big drop in the relative humidity yesterday gave the state grateful relief from three days of sultriness that broke mid-June records in several areas.

An overnight descent of brisk air from Canada drove the mercury down to comfortable temperatures. Forecasters said today will be warm, partly cloudy, with some chance of widely scattered showers. Friday will be warmer and more humid.

Questions And Answers

WE ARE remodeling a farmhouse. With the property we acquired an old bedroom set, three large pieces in walnut veneer. The bed is a "sleigh bed" with a very high headboard. We could use this set very nicely in a guest room if it could be painted and cut down. Have you any suggestions?

T. M. O'C. Yellow would be a good color for the wallpaper. For the rugs I suggest dark blue; for the bedspreads, white; and blue, yellow and white plaid dust ruffles, and for the draperies, the blue, yellow and white plaid.

THE WOODWORK in my dining room is now varnished and badly in need of redecorating. Would painting it white make the room look larger? Do you think we would tire of it? The walls in both rooms are painted light green.

P. L. Painting the woodwork in your living room and dining room the same color and finish as the walls will make the rooms look larger and will not become tiresome because the woodwork won't stand out.

MY BEDROOM furniture is maple and the wallpaper, which is practically new, is peach with small bunches of white plumes. At present the drapes and bedspreads are light blue and the shag rug is peach. I am very tired of the blue. Would you please tell me some other color combination I can use with the peach paper. I have a sudden yen for chartreuse. Could it possibly be worked in somehow?

M. S. I suggest the following: Rug, maroon; bedspreads, ivory with maroon trim; draperies, green, chartreuse and ivory stripes.

WE PLAN to do over our children's room. The furniture is mahogany. The linoleum has a nursery-rhyme pattern in dark and light blue, rose, white and yellow. Would yellow be a good color for the wallpaper, scatter rugs and a ceiling light fixture? I would also like suggestions for draperies and bedspreads, the furniture is mahogany.

Let Ashes Remain In Fireplace

The neat housekeeper who keeps her fireplace free of ashes is an inefficient fire-builder, according to home heating specialists, who regard a bed of glowing ashes as necessary for igniting logs which are placed on a fire.

Fireplace heat losses may be minimized if one log is kept on the floor of the hearth against the back wall behind the andirons. This log prevents the draft from drawing the heat directly into the masonry, it is pointed out.

Another suggested way to increase heating efficiency is to use only dry wood. Green wood is known to contain from 25 to 50 percent of its weight in water. Before it will give off heat, much dry fuel is wasted in drying up the water.

Neatness may be achieved around a fireplace by stacking logs systematically and by providing a container for kindling. Many home owners find that a galvanized steel coal hod makes an ideal receptacle for kindling. Such a hod is inexpensive, durable, fireproof, and may be painted to match any decorative scheme.

Occasional Items Used To Increase Charm Of Rooms

One way to bring charm and comfort to a living room is by adding a few well-chosen occasional pieces. Sectional bookcases, for instance, grouped along a wall or arranged in a corner grouping immediately lend warmth and a friendly air to a room.

Available in various sizes and styles, they're extremely adaptable to many uses such as a cabinet for your best bric-a-brac or for record albums in addition to books and magazines. And with a pair of tall lamps placed on top, they can form the basis of a cozy reading corner.

Tables are another item which make a room more liveable and hospitable, and today, there are attractive tables in all sizes and styles to suit every possible purpose. Stack tables for informal buffet-type parties—hostess tables which may be used together to form a serving table or separately as lamp tables—nest tables for entertaining your television guests—revolving book tables to keep your current best-seller within easy reach of the sofa—mobile tray tables which may be used as a portable tea table or bar. Then, there are desks, desk-chests designed to lead a double life as a writing desk and storage chests, Bachelor's chests with sliding writing shelf, or a magazine rack to complete a lounge chair grouping, are other suggestions that introduce added convenience and decorative interest to a room.

On the purely decorative side, there are wall shelves, wall planters, plant stands, curio cabinets and tables.

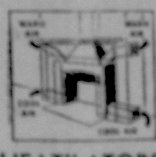

These are just a few of the designs which, for a small expenditure, contribute enormously to gracious living.

Stain Shingles Before Attaching

Wood shingles before being attached to a wall or roof, should be treated by dipping the entire shingle in shingle stain. After the roof is constructed, another coat of stain should be applied by brush and spray. Shingle stains usually are composed of a dye or color dissolved or suspended in solvents containing oil and a wood preservative, such as creosote.

77-Year History Of Wyckoff Store Reviewed By Mrs. Maloney At Meeting Of Kiwanis Club

The 50th anniversary of the Kiwanis Club of Stroudsburg was celebrated at the Penn-Stroud Hotel yesterday afternoon with 10 of the original 50 members in attendance. Gilbert L. Smrz, president, read a number of letters of congratulation. The club was formed June 15, 1922, with Scranton club as sponsor.

The program had to do with the business and industrial relations of the community. Mrs. Madalyn Hanna Maloney, Wyckoff Shopper, told the story of the Wyckoff New York Store, while Arthur Widmer, head of the advertising department, showed pictures tying up with the narration. Arlington W. Williams, program chairman, presented Mrs. Maloney and Mr. Widmer.

Walter S. Peeney Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Peeney Sr., of East Stroudsburg, winner of the Kiwanis citation in the class of 1952 of East Stroudsburg High School, was presented by Ralph O. Burrows, principal. Walter R. McClelland, chairman of the Boys and Girls Work Committee of the club, congratulated him and presented him with a gift. Mr. Peeney Sr. accompanied his son.

Miss Patricia A. Darling, of Mount Pocono, the citation winner at Stroudsburg High School, was unable to be present and sent a letter of appreciation. She has also received a gift.

The charter members are: C. B. Altomose, A. F. Everitt, Rev. R. H. Feltham, F. S. LaBar, A. M. Price, V. M. Reynolds, Superior Court Judge C. H. Rhodes (the first vice president of the club), H. T. Rinker, F. L. Stackhouse, A. J. Zabriske.

A three-tier birthday cake was cut by Mr. Rinker.

Congratulatory letters were read from the following: Claude B. Hellmann, president Kiwanis International, Baltimore, Md.; Daniel L. Auchenbach, of Johnstown, district governor, Pennsylvania District; Kiwanis International; O. E. Peterson, Chicago, Ill., International secretary; Bob Friday, Inter-Club Relations committee chairman, Hickory, N. C. club; Ralph H. Fry, of Bristol, Va.-Tenn. club, former Stroud-burg member and J. P. Rawson, Scranton club.

Mrs. Maloney traced the history of the Wyckoff department store, now in its 77th year, from the early days and also told of conditions which existed at various times. She brought out many incidences and changes marking various periods. She also spoke of the founders and interesting facts concerning them and those who followed down to the present time.

President Smrz announced that an auction would be held at the July 2 meeting of the club. Ralph W. Peters, Walter R. McClelland and Eric Schuchard are in charge.

Robert E. Mullins, member of the Milwaukee, Wis. Club, and John Randall, of Scranton, were welcomed as guests.

Relief Increases

The recent action of the State Board of Public Assistance in granting increases in food and fuel allowances to some 230,000 Pennsylvanians now on relief is highly commendable.

Although the increase will cost the state an estimated $360,000 monthly, a drop in the bucket compared to many less justifiable state expenditures, it can be considered money well spent inasmuch as it goes for the care of the more unfortunate of our state. Surely none of us would conscientiously deny a cost-of-living increase to those on relief at a time when the cost-of-living index is at an all time high and wage increases in industry are items of daily news.

Mrs. Eleanor G. Evans, state board secretary, and her staff have worked out a new and "simplified" plan, which, on paper at least, seems to be most equitable. Increases will range from 11 per cent for one person down to four per cent for an eight-member family unit. The previous maximum for a family of four was $127.40 per month.

The new plan seems to be far more uncomplicated than the method by which recipients have been granted relief. It recognizes only two age groups—adults and children under five. This makes for far less red tape, the board says, than the old procedure by which grants were determined on the basis of four age groups—adults, ages 12 through 18, 5 through 11, and children under five. The new plan also takes into consideration the locality in which the family lives.

Thus it should be possible, when the new plan goes into effect late in July, to tell by glancing at a table what a family of four living in Monroe County should get in relief allowances.

Washington Report

—by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

Washington, June 18.—Any comparison between Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's rise in political prominence with that of the late Wendell Willkie, will lose its validity on the doorstep of the GOP Convention Hall in Chicago.

Emotional Eisenhower backers have consistently compared the General's fortunes with those that gained Willkie the Republican nomination in 1940. They predict the same Willkie tactics will see Eisenhower through the political storms at Chicago. They are whistling in the dark.

The Eisenhower situation this year, and Willkie's in 1940, are entirely different. Gen Eisenhower will journey to Chicago with a list of delegates almost equal to the number held by Senator Robert A. Taft. The emotions and enthusiasms of his followers already will be somewhat spent. In fact, the General himself has been neglecting his ballyhoo to concentrate on the hard-headed politicians who will be delegates in Chicago. These men, not the band leaders and television stars, will nominate the General.

In 1940 Willkie was low man on the totem pole. Although a well publicized dark horse then, he could muster only 66 votes on the first ballot. Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York had 360 and Taft 189.

Convention delegates in 1940 wound up by passing both of the front runners, and nominating Willkie on the sixth roll call. He was in a perfect spot to slip in between the political giants who were battling for first place. His managers kept him on the sidelines until just the right moment.

The only comparable figure now sitting on the sidelines who could muster the enthusiasm that equalled Willkie's in 1940 is Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Convention history reveals that almost without exception a candidate leading the roll call of delegates on the first ballot must win by the fourth roll call or call it quits. Dewey found this out in 1940. Taft is in the same position today, assuming he reaches Chicago with more delegates than Eisenhower, as he apparently will do.

Convention record books also reveal that only three times in history have candidates in second place on the first ballot gone on to win the nomination. Lincoln, Bryan and Wilson were the three. The precedent puts Eisenhower on the spot.

It is nice to report that state departments are streamlining their procedures, but it must be a lot nicer for the 230,000 relief recipients to know that they are going to be able to buy more to eat—particularly as their last cost-of-living increase was a flat $1 in 1950. And it doesn't take much figuring to find out how much a dollar has shrunk since then.

The Tendency to Speed

Perhaps it is the freer spirit, which comes with vacation time, that motivates automobile drivers—especially in the lower age groups—to press down on the accelerator just a little harder these days.

We have observed recently a noticeable trend toward faster driving, even in the closely-built-up sections. In most instances, this might not be called speeding—just the tendency to jump from a standing to a running position as quickly as possible.

This is a dangerous practice; and young drivers should be so cautioned by their elders.

Traffic in one of the most-heavily traveled cities in the nation, Washington, D. C., has long since learned to become accustomed to moderate acceleration and conservative driving, uniformly observing, within city limits, the 25-miles-an-hour speed limit. Surprisingly enough, there are relatively few traffic jams there.

And while writing about driving, please be especially alert these days for young bicyclists on the highways. They do not have the traffic consciousness of their elders.

A full-size window screen contains about one mile of wire.

Octopuses sometimes reach a total length of 50 feet.

Looking At Life —by Erich Brandeis

When I was in high school, and later in college I studied economics with quite a bit of interest. I figured that to get along in life and to understand issues, a knowledge of economics could come in handy.

For, economics is SUPPOSED to be the science that deals with conditions and laws affecting the production, distribution and consumption of wealth, or the material means of satisfying human desires.

And so, by economic reasoning I was taught that two plus two makes four, and that there was no possible way to get five out of two plus two.

But now, anno domini 1952, I am completely mixed up on my economics.

Everything seems to be upside down.

Two plus two has definitely become not only five but six and seven.

For instance, everybody has been complaining about the high cost of living. It has gotten to be so bad that most people can't afford to eat meat, to have butter, to buy fruit.

So our Government establishes controls in order to bring living costs down to a more equitable basis.

To do that they think of a

These Days - - By George E. Sokolsky

The Keynote

The keynote at most national conventions is a distinguished politician who is selected, generally as a temporary chairman, to pep up the delegates on the opening day. While he must be an orator with a great voice and forensic powers, his speech is rarely a literary masterpiece.

Often the keynote is one who might have been a candidate had fate not been unkind. He is generally popular enough to attract a good audience for the Monday night opening.

The Democrats have this year selected Governor Paul A. Dever of Massachusetts as their keynote. He is an amiable Democrat and will make a routine speech supporting the Truman Administration, defending its policies and denouncing the Republicans. It will be such a speech as Truman might have made himself, but more oratorical, with a flavor of humor.

The Republicans have chosen as their keynote one of the greatest orators of our time and a personality that evokes emotions, pro and con, as no other American does, General Douglas MacArthur. Unquestionably his speech will be the high note of the convention. The last person to address any political gathering of this nature, whose oratory equalled MacArthur's, was William Jennings Bryan.

In spite of the fact that many men live by making speeches, the masterful orators are few. Daniel Webster, Robert Ingersoll, William Jennings Bryan, Douglas MacArthur are among the few. Abraham Lincoln was not an orator, although his Gettysburg Address lives as a literary classic. Bryan's "Cross of Gold" speech, wonderful as it was at the moment, is no longer even in the "speech" books, as they nowadays call exercises in elocution.

Douglas MacArthur's "Old Soldiers Never Die" speech will not be forgotten by this generation, as his "Farewell to the Army" speech is often referred to as an example of significant oratory. John Gunther wrote that General Eisenhower helped to prepare that speech. A stylistic comparison between any of MacArthur's work and Eisenhower's Abilene speech surely proves that MacArthur rolls his own.

So, at this opening night of the Republican Convention, Douglas MacArthur will have the opportunity of a lifetime to use his literary and dramatic abilities to start the convention with such fervor as only Billy Sunday could arouse among the penitent. It could outlast the convention and bring unity in support of an American ideal which would capture the imaginations of millions who will listen on radio and television.

Two objections were made to Douglas MacArthur:

1. He is a Taft supporter.
2. He is on the active list in the Army and therefore should not engage in politics.

As to point 1, it has been customary for the keynote to deal with issues, not with personalities. It is not likely that General MacArthur will break that precedent. In fact, at one convention, Mrs. Clare Luce spoke in favor of Senator Vandenberg before the nomination time and it was bitterly resented. General MacArthur will not risk such damage to himself or his cause.

Actually, there are no neutrals in the Republican Party today. It would have to be an Eisenhower or a Taft man. The three possibilities, in terms of rank and leadership, who were available were Senator Eugene D. Millikin, Herbert Hoover or Douglas MacArthur. Millikin and Hoover bowed out in favor of MacArthur.

Both will speak, however; Hoover on Tuesday night; Millikin when he introduces the platform. Point 2 is a matter that can only boomerang against those who want to make something out of it. General MacArthur is on active service, as a five-star general, by act of Congress as a gesture of gratitude of a nation for services rendered. So are General Eisenhower and General Marshall and a few others. Unless called upon to do a chore for the government, they can engage in any activity they like under the law. If anyone tried to reconcile the act creating them with the Hatch Act, he would probably find himself involved in litigation up to the Supreme Court.

On the other hand, President Truman could assign General MacArthur to duty somewhere, even back to Korea, but it would look like persecution and not a little mean, and would cost votes in the election.

Also, General Eisenhower was, for many years, General MacArthur's military secretary and subordinate and he could not speak ill of "the old man" without considerable loss of dignity.

So, General MacArthur will make his keynote speech and nobody will gainsay him in advance.

Hollywood

—by Gene Handsaker

Hollywood—The Duncan Sisters ask dad; he'll remember 'em if you're too young — are tasting success all over again after 10 years of comparative retirement.

Vivian, and Rosetta, blonde, fiftyish, and full of bounce, have been packing 'em in for some three months at a Valley spot called the Saddle and Siroin. Folks like Bette Davis, June Allyson, Mae West, Ed Wynn, Bob Hope, Gene Autry, and Ann Blyth drop in to catch the girls' nostalgic singing and clowning.

Old Los Angeles grade-school friends, some of them grandparents now, come in. Rosetta's one-time fiancé was there with his wife. A cop, now gray-haired, remembered giving Vivian a parking ticket back in '28. He tore it up when he realized that this was Eva of the famous musicalized Topsy and Eva act. Vivian gave him passes to the theater where they were appearing.

Rosetta and Vivian Duncan, whose meteoric career began in 1917 and made them favorites of Broadwayites and European royalty, can thank both movies and television for their comeback.

For several years they've been operating a theatrical school in Burlingame, near San Francisco. Two years ago they finished writing their autobiography. It went the rounds of the Hollywood studios. Paramount bought it. Ben Hecht is writing the screenplay. "Topsy and Eva" will star Betty Hutton and Ginger Rogers as, respectively, Rosetta and Vivian. Being here for consultations on the movie was one reason for coming back to their native community. And Rosetta says:

Light-eyed persons are much more subject to eye strain than dark-eyed persons.

Some 30,000 bees must visit at least 3,360,000 flowers to produce one pound of honey.

Female teachers in Egypt are forbidden to use cosmetics.

Honorary Degrees For 1952

Butterknutt, Oswald H. — A high official of radio and video, you were handed another one of those codes to limit any programs blue-printing crime in a way to tempt the young and easily influenced. You threw it from the 32nd story window with the simple statement, "I have kids of my own. This sort of thing has gone far enough. Let's draw up an honest code and execute it like honest men." We pronounced you an extraordinary and unique American. Have the degree with the roses attached and stay for lunch!

Shrewsbury, Peter H. — A public servant in a position to control expenditure and save a community from bankruptcy, you stuck to old-fashioned arithmetic, considered the taxpayer's interests and cut the budget to the bone, saying, "It is cockeyed to spend what we ain't got for what we don't need." (Would you rather have an honorary degree or a supply of strawberry shortcake for two years?)

Dooplensoff, Alfred. — You own an automobile, and, despite the fact you live almost a half mile from the office, you walked to work rather than add unnecessarily to the traffic congestion.

Alfred, you are the Man of the Year. How did Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Columbia and all those

"We kept watching people we've known in show business — Martha Raye, Grace Field, Jack Benny, and others — going strong on television. So we thought we might as well get back into the swim."

They plan a filmed television show starting in the fall. Rosetta will play a countrified sloppy dame. Vivian a stylish socialite, and they'll have a stock company of about six players. Meantime they've a date in August at the Palladium Theater in London.

The girls were pleased when their one-time kindergarten teacher showed up recently to see their act.

But one of the nicest tributes is coming from the Masquers, a Hollywood organization of show-business notables. Only once before in 35 years has it staged a testimonial dinner for a woman — Grace Fields, in 1949. Its second will honor not one woman but two — the Duncans.

State Troopers Investigating Series Of Thefts In County

Burglaries Occur On Main Street

A wave of thefts swept over the area during the past few days, resulting in the loss of almost $600 in equipment and merchandise.

In the Stroudsburg section three burglaries, believed committed by the same persons, occurred in the W. Main St. area late Monday night or early Tuesday morning.

Two thefts were reported at Rinehart's International Harvester Sales and Service garage, 1875 W. Main St. A truck owned by Pocono Produce Co. and tractor belonging to Alan R. Wills, 102 Rock St., Easton both at the garage for repairs, were victimized. The two front wheels and tires of the truck and two axles from the tractor were stolen. Both vehicles were on the parking lot when the theft occurred. Tire value was set at $170 and tractor axles at $55.

Directly across the street at J. K. Lesoine's garage, 1870 W. Main St., tools valued at $55 were stolen. Entry is believed to have been made through a window in the building.

Monday Dr. Anthony J. Harlach, East Stroudsburg dentist reported to State police an outboard motor valued at $170 was taken from the Minisink landing on the Delaware River.

Pfc. Ed Beneski of the Stroudsburg sub-station, State police, is investigating all four thefts.

For the third time in the past two months the "Gateway" roadstand on Route 611 near Slateford, operated by Clarence Overfield, was entered. This time merchandise valued at $110 was reported missing.

Jesse Felker, Portland Chief of Police and William J. Hontz, Northampton County detective are investigating the theft which occurred late Sunday night.

According to the police the building was entered by forcing a door. Listed as stolen were costume jewelry, tobacco, candy and cigars, all taken from a showcase. The robbery was the second in two weeks at the stand.

Bangor Boy 14, Missing

Bangor—A 14-year-old Bangor boy is still missing from home following his "disappearance" last Friday.

Borough and Northampton County police officers have had no luck in their search for Joseph Campanaro Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Campanaro, 149 N. Eighth St., Bangor.

The boy apparently disappeared last Friday after he failed to get his report card because of a 25-cent fee he owed to the school, local officials said last night.

When last seen Friday at "about 2 p.m." young Campanaro was wearing a white shirt and blue jeans. He is about five feet three inches tall and weighs approximately 115 pounds. He wears a crew haircut, cropped close to his head.

The boy was first reported missing Sunday, according to police.

Four-Day Summer Music Festival Makes Debut Tonight At Tamiment With Quartet, Orchestra

Tamiment—America's newest Summer music festival begins today at Camp Tamiment, in the heart of the Pocono Mountains.

Featured on the four-day chamber music program will be the Curtis String Quartet and the New Chamber Orchestra of Philadelphia.

The scheduling of the chamber music festival is an attempt on the part of Tamiment officials to establish a permanent Summer musical organization in the Poconos along the lines of the annual Berkshire concerts.

The Curtis quartet will open the series tonight with performances of the Quartet in C Major ("The Emperor") by Joseph Haydn, Ravel's Quartet in F and the Quintet for piano and strings by Robert Schumann.

Vladimir Sokoloff, one of this country's most widely-known concert pianists, will collaborate with the quartet on the latter selection. Friday's performances remain in the strict classical motif. The "Rassumovsky" Quartet in C major by Beethoven occupies the key position with Franz Schubert's Octet in F major concluding the performance.

For the Schubert selection, the string quartet will be augmented by four secondary instruments—clarinet, bassoon, horn and bass.

Sokoloff again joins the Curtis Quartet for Saturday afternoon's concert in which both the Mozart Quartet No. 14 in E-flat major and the Brahms Quintet for Piano and Strings, Opus 34 will be heard.

On Saturday night the full New Chamber Orchestra of Philadelphia makes its debut under the direction of Igor Jones who is also known for his distinguished work as director of the Bethlehem Bach festival.

Handel's Concerto Grosso in A minor and the Mozart Violin Concerto in D major occupy the first portion of the Saturday night performance. The noted violinist Jascha Brodsky will be heard in the role of soloist with the chamber orchestra on the Mozart.

The concluding portion of the concert will be equally divided between the classic and "modern" schools of music. Mozart will again be represented, this time with the Symphony No. 29 in A major, K-201.

As its final selection, however, the orchestra turns to one of the most important and influential of modern Jewish composers, Ernest Bloch. Bloch's Concerto Grosso for Strings and Piano will bring the orchestra's appearance to a close.

The four-day festival will be terminated Sunday morning with the return of the Curtis quartet in two widely divergent musical styles. As its first selection the quartet has chosen Claude Debussy's Quartet in G minor, Opus 10—one of the French impressionist's most delicate compositions for small groups.

Augmented by a piano (Sokoloff) and bass (Wilfred Batchelder), the Curtis will then perform Schubert's Quintet for Piano and Strings, Opus 114, commonly known as "The Trout."

Mrs. Shirley Wheeler Wins Washington Star Trophy For Outstanding Civic Endeavor

Shirley Baierle-Price Wheeler, a former resident of the Stroudsburgs, has been awarded the Washington, D. C. Evening Star trophy for her outstanding work as chairman of the Arlington, Va., Civic Federation's Local Government Committee.

The award is made annually to the federation member or committee doing the most outstanding work. The 1952 award carries with it a citation referring to Mrs. Wheeler's "thorough and frequent reports and constructive recommendations, many of which have been enacted into law."

Mrs. Wheeler is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Price, East Stroudsburg, and is a graduate of Stroudsburg High School where she won the state oratorical contest as a senior. She was also graduated from Oberlin College, and is the wife of Joseph C. Wheeler, first assistant treasurer of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

They have three children, and it was through their initial interest in Parent-Teachers Association work that she became interested in civic government.

The silver cup she received makes it four in a row for the family. Her mother, Dr. Nina Mae Price, of East Stroudsburg, recently received the East Stroudsburg Exchange Club's Golden Deeds award; a sister, Bobby Westbrook, received a state editorial award, and the husband of another sister, Dr. Henry W. Sams, has been appointed dean of the University of Chicago's Summer school.

Princesses To Represent Twin Boroughs

Two local girls will be selected to represent Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg at the Laurel Blossom Ball on June 25, according to Harold Swenson, director of the Pocono Laurel Blossom Festival.

The retail merchants of the area have been contacted regarding their sponsorship of entries and they are expected to announce their selections today.

Miss Stroudsburg and Miss East Stroudsburg will enter the Parade of Princesses along with the laurel princesses representing the many resorts in the Pocono region.

The 1952 Queen of Laurel will be selected from the princesses on the night of the Laurel Ball at Shawnee and will be crowned by Gov. John S. Fine.

It was announced last night that Robert Christenberry and Allen Roth will serve as judges on a panel which will select the Laurel Queen.

Mr. Roth, a resident of this county 15 years, is musical director of the Milton Berle show and long associated with top musical productions in New York City.

Mr. Christenberry, who is president of Hotel Astor and numerous organizations in New York City, is chairman of the New York Boxing Commission and frequently represents the United States Government on missions to Europe.

Prank Backfires; Two Men Face Charges; One Injured

Bushkill—A prank turned out not to be so amusing, Milford State police reported yesterday, after one prankster was injured and both were charged with violating the motor vehicle code.

Police said the two, employed as "house men" at Camp Unity, crossed the ignition wires on a fellow employee's car and drove the vehicle off.

Behind the wheel was Kenneth Van Buskirk, about 25. His companion, William Hall, 30, rode on the rear bumper of the vehicle as it pulled away from the camp, located near Bushkill.

At about 8 p. m. Tuesday, two and a half miles north of Bushkill, Hall fell off the bumper as the car rounded a curve.

Passersby and motorists rushed to assist. An ambulance was called and Hall was taken to the General Hospital. There he was treated for bruises and cuts, and released.

By that time Milford State police and Stroudsburg State police had been called into the incident.

Police discovered that the car had been taken without the knowledge of the owner, M. Zook.

Ice Cream Served In Many Ways

Served every day in some way ice cream will add infinite variety and appetite-appeal to family meals. A small serving is just right to put the finishing touch on a heavy meal. Topped with nuts, coconut, or sweet sauces it will build a slim meal up to banquet size.

Used as a garnish it will help stretch a nine-inch pie to eight servings, will make a sliver of cake seem generous and satisfying.

Ice cream should be kept on hand for a variety and assortment of toppings, too. They will give a variety of flavor and interesting textures to any number of delicious ice cream dishes.

Try some of these: chocolate syrup, caramel syrup, maple syrup, honey, frozen, canned or fresh fruit in season; nuts chopped, whole or toasted; coconut; shaved semi-sweet or sweet chocolate, preserves, even cake, cookie, and macaroon crumbs.

And, because it satisfies the appetite yet doesn't interfere with regular meals, ice cream is a wonderful between-meal snack.

Ice Cream can be depended upon to give a lift or quiet those between-meal twinges of hunger. It's fun to eat, yet won't dull eagerness for dinner.

The first cows were brought to the U. S. in 1611 to the Jamestown Colony. The failure of the Pilgrims to bring cows on the Mayflower is given as one of the main reasons for the high death rate, particularly of children.

Dairy Foods Nutritious, Economical

Any man who says women can't figure doesn't have all the facts. Perhaps she doesn't always keep her check stubs according to the best accounting procedures but when it comes to food planning the American housewife performs a few mathematical miracles.

First, she has to figure what her hungry family likes . . . they want what they want and it must be appealing and appetizing. Then, she must be sure to figure that her stomach satisfying meals are nutritious . . . to keep her family healthy.

But the biggest job is yet to come. All of this must fit the family budget . . . which isn't easy these days when prices seem to change more rapidly than the weather. She solves this problem by hunting for "nutrition bargains."

And she finds these in dairy foods. Milk is a low cost food yet it supplies such an abundance of essential food elements. The American housewife knows this because surveys show that seven out of every ten housewives are well aware of the nutritive value of milk.

Last year we drank 16% more milk than we did before World War II and ate more cheese and ice cream. In actual pounds, dairy foods make up about 30% of all we eat but it only takes about 15% out of the food budget.

By using more milk and other dairy foods in her menus she is winning her high cost of living fight and also is improving her family's health. Nutrition research shows that older folks, particularly 45 and over, need dairy foods just as do infants and growing children. And the health of children certainly is dependent upon their getting a sound supply of the nutrients essential to good nutrition. And milk and milk foods are still the most economical source of these nutrients.

Dairy foods provide about 30% of the consumer's food requirements but take only about 15% of the food dollar.

Americans are drinking about 16% more milk today than they did before World War II.

It takes nearly 23 million cows in the United States to supply our milk needs.

The price of milk has gone up since World War II less than most other major food items.

Milk is one of the oldest known foods. Records exist of cows being milked in 9000 B. C.

One quart of milk supplies as much calcium as is found in twenty normal helpings of beans.

In 1951, the average yield per acre for cotton in Arizona was 740 pounds, the highest of any state in the nation, says the National Geographic Society.

Pennsylvania makes more ice cream than any other state in the country producing nearly 67 million gallons every year.

Surveys Show Milk Is Nation's Favorite Food

Feeding the hungry American public is big business. We like to eat and consequently are one of the best fed countries in the world today. This month the entire nation pays its respects to the largest and one of the most important suppliers of food—the dairy industry. For this is June Dairy Month.

The slogan for this month is "good eatin' for all ages" and when it comes to milk and dairy foods we appreciate more and more the value of these words. Every year we drink more milk so that today we consume 16% more milk than we did before Pearl Harbor.

It takes more than 23 million cows to supply our milk needs. This is practically equivalent to the combined populations of Pennsylvania and New York. More than 60 million quarts of milk are distributed to consumers every day and it takes a quarter of a million American workers to process and deliver this milk.

The gain in milk consumption is not only proof of its taste appeal but also of the increasing awareness that milk and its products are essential to good health. The economy aspect of milk has been a big factor in the increased demand since government cost of living figures show that milk prices have gone up less than other major food items.

Surveys show that milk is the No. 1 favorite food of American homes and that mothers consider it the most essential food of all. Seven out of every ten American housewives are well aware of the high nutritive value of milk, according to a recent Opinion Research survey. Given a long list of foods, housewives were asked which were the most important. Milk came first as 71 per cent said it is the most essential. Another striking opinion gathered from surveys shows that milk is the last of all the foods housewives will cut down on in an inflationary situation.

Though milk is a liquid it has less water than most vegetables and less than a third more than beefsteak.

Survivors May Lose Payments

SOME people in the Monroe County area will lose their rights to social security lump-sum death payments if they delay making a claim until after the end of this August.

Marie T. Miller, manager of the Easton social security office, directs this statement to survivors of insured persons who died outside the United States after Dec. 6, 1941, and before Aug. 10, 1946. Most of these were men who died in active service during World War Two.

"In most cases, those who stand to lose the lump-sum payments are widows or other persons who paid the burial expenses for reinterment in the United States and who have not claimed social security benefits on the deceased person's account," Miss Miller says.

She advises all such people to get in touch with the Easton social security office without delay as no lump-sum payments can be made unless a claim is made before August 31.

For the benefit of the residents of the Stroudsburg area, a representative from the Easton office is on duty at the Stroudsburg borough hall every Thursday, starting at 10:30 a. m.

Lumber Company Buildings Burn

Wilkes-Barre, (AP)—Unable to cope alone with a fire yesterday the Wyoming Lumber Co., in Exeter borough, Exeter firemen summoned help from Wyoming, West Wyoming, Pittston, West Pittston and Forty Fort.

First estimates of the damage showed six buildings razed.

The blaze also consumed two loaded box cars on a Lehigh Valley Railroad siding in the yard.

Portland Woman's Club Has Installation At Luncheon

Portland—Climaxing the club year with a luncheon at Tuscarora Inn along the Delaware, the Portland Woman's Club yesterday featured installation of officers for the coming year. Mrs. Lee MacLellan, president of the Northampton County Federation of Woman's Clubs was the installing officer.

Mrs. E. Randall Carpenter is president; Mrs. Wayne Van Vorst, first vice president, and Mrs. Horace Rusling, second vice president. Treasurer is Mrs. Raymond Scott; corresponding secretary, Mrs. C. J. Knealing, and recording secretary, Mrs. Frank Gardner.

There were about fifty members and guests present for the luncheon held on the patio with the tables decorated in orchid and yellow, the club colors. Corsages for the officers and guests of honor, and miniature potted plants with purple flowers as favors marked the party.

Guests honored included Mrs. George Wilson, president of the Eastern Club; Mrs. Vernon Hester, president of the Bangor Club; Mrs. George Harman, president of the Bethlehem Club, and Mrs. Vincent Tambella who represented the Pen Argyl Club.

Mrs. Bert Transue, retiring president, presided at the meeting, and after the installation was presented with a past president's pin as the gift of a grateful club. The speaker, introduced by Mrs. Carpenter, program chairman, was Mrs. Walter Gillet, of New Jersey, who spoke on "Around the World." Illustrating her talk with rare specimens. Mood for the talk was set by a song, "One Little Candle," sung by Mrs. James Van Kirk, with Mrs. Howard Ott as accompanist.

Mrs. Carpenter named the members of the committee which will function next year: Education, Miss Alice Delp, Miss Ruth Williams; cheer, Mrs. Max Effross; social, Mrs. Arch Hartzell, Mrs. Elmer Reagle; American home, Mrs. Carl Kramer, Mrs. Harry Seaman; child welfare, Mrs. Olin Cramer; publicity, Mrs. John Ribble; program, Mrs. Wayne Van Vorst, Mrs. Horace Rusling; reception, Mrs. G. J. Davies; drama, Mrs. Harry Bellis; meditation, Mrs. David R. Edwards, Mrs. John Early; literature, Mrs. Charles Hilferly; conservation and gardens, Mrs. Philip Strunk, Mrs. William Kennedy; membership, Mrs. Arthur Barrton, Mrs. Clarke Kinney, Mrs. Harry Morgan, Mrs. Bert Transue, Mrs. John Young; legislation and citizenship, Mrs. Harry Webb; ways and means, Mrs. Ernest Courtney, Mrs. Wallace Hutcheon and Mrs. Raymond Transue.

Articles may be taken direct to Wyckoff's on Friday morning. The proceeds are to be used by the newly-organized choir and the neighbors are asked to get back of the young folks.

Bible School Commencement Friday Night

Tannersville — The Community Bible School held in the Tannersville High school, under the supervision of District 3, of the Monroe County Sunday School Association, will come to an end on Friday night June 20.

Beginning at 7:45, the classes will hold their commencement exercise. Parents and friends of the children are invited to attend this service. The busses will meet the children that night at their regular stops.

Bernard Fish's Marking 45th Anniversary Today

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Fish, of 174 Lennox Ave., are celebrating their 45th wedding anniversary today.

They have four children: Willard of Lennox Ave.; Lester of Stroudsburg RD1; Mrs. Foster Ladlee, East Stroudsburg; and Mrs. Lewis Messerle of Bushkill.

They also have 13 grandchildren and 1 great grandchild. Today also marks the 18th wedding anniversary of their oldest son, Willard.

Commencement For Bible School On Friday Night

Parents and friends of the children attending the Stroudsburg Community Bible School are cordially invited to attend the commencement exercises to be held this Friday night at 8 at the Stroudsburg Methodist Church.

The school this year has been so large that it has been divided between the Stroudsburg Methodist and Presbyterian Churches for its sessions, and the program on Friday night will feature the handwork, songs and verses which the children have learned the past two weeks.

Auxiliary To Meet At Wyckoff Summer Home

The Woman's Auxiliary of the First Presbyterian Church has saved one of the outstanding speakers of the year for its final meeting of the season to be held Tuesday night at the summer bungalow of Mrs. Ernest H. Wyckoff, Hialeah Park, on the river above Shawnee.

Mrs. J. Stewart Kunkle, who with her husband has retired from the mission field after many years in China, is to be the guest speaker. They now have a home at Stony Point, Conn., and an office in New York where they are in charge of the distribution of books to the mission fields.

The Ming Quong Circle will serve as hostesses for the meeting which is annually one of the largest of the year.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

There were a lot of pleasant things about yesterday—in addition to the weather, which was perfect for anything you might have had on your mind.

Certainly pleasant to see Mrs. Bertha Linaberry out for her first trip overtown since her accident, and making out very well, too.

Pleasant to hear that the Lehigh Congress presidents are still meeting after 10 these many years — must be fourteen by now since the Congress was disbanded.

And the Portland Woman's Club party sounded like a perfect affair.

But the pleasantest thing of all was going home through the cool, fragrant night with the people still lingering on porch steps and corner light savoring the night to the full.

Peavy-Miller Wedding At Portland

The marriage of Mrs. Abbie L. Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon R. Kitchen, of Columbia, New Jersey, and Charles I. Peavy, son of Mrs. Anne Peavy, of St. Joseph, Missouri, took place on June 16 at the home of John R. Wildrick, Justice of the Peace, Portland, who performed the double ring ceremony.

The couple were attended by Miss Mildred Amerman, of Columbia RD, N. J., and Carl R. Higgins, of Oxford RD, N. J.

The bride's wedding dress was of red and white organdy and she wore a corsage of red roses. The maid of honor wore a dress of red and white, and a corsage of red roses.

Charles I. Peavy, USN, is a veteran of World War Two and is still serving with the Navy. Abbie L. Miller (now Mrs. Peavy) is employed by Mr. Bessecker at Delaware, N. J. They will reside at Portland.

Hooper-Dunlap Wedding Is Announced

Miss Edythe Mae Dunlap, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Dunlap, of Stroudsburg, and George Irving Hooper, of Snyder'sville, son of Mrs. Jennie Smith, Snyder'sville and Clinton Hooper, of Bethlehem, were married on Monday, June 9, at the Stroudsburg Presbyterian manse by Rev. Ernest T. Campbell.

Mrs. Dunlap, mother of the bride, and Mrs. Garwood Lee, of Northfield, N. J., a cousin, witnessed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Hooper are now making their home in Snyder'sville.

Lehigh Valley Congresswomen Have Reunion

The past presidents of the former Lehigh Valley Congress of Woman's Clubs held their annual reunion yesterday at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Foster Minnich on the Delaware at Minisink Hills.

Mrs. Minnich, retiring president of the informal organization, served luncheon and presided at the meeting when Mrs. Russell K. Lee, of Palmerton was elected president; Mrs. Seta H. Hamm, Bangor, vice president; Mrs. A. C. Elm, Palmerton, secretary; and Mrs. C. C. Scholla, Stroudsburg, treasurer.

The group accepted an invitation to meet at the home of Mrs. Hamm at Lake Analomink on the third Tuesday of June, 1953.

Water Gap WSCS Entertained At Gehm Home

Delaware Water Gap—Sixteen women braved the heat Tuesday night to attend their WSCS meeting, which was held at Cherry Creek Lodge, the home of Mrs. Otto Gehm, opening on the Lodge porch, cooled by maple trees and a near-by creek.

Later in the lodge parlors, a devotional period was led by Miss Nellie Burd. She read "Creative Church Work." Mrs. George Brockman, president, expressed the thanks of the society to Mrs. Mabel Lightner and Mrs. Frances Osborne for their successful work as chairmen of the penny supper in early June.

Letters of thanks were reported from Pastor Gearhardt, displaced Lutheran minister, to whom the society gave generously; and from the Fifth Street Community Center of Philadelphia. Additional gifts were received for the organ fund.

The WSCS voted to hold a picnic the night of July 8 at Wayside Rest; and invited all members of their families to join them there. They also decided to spend the day of July 15 at Pocono Plateau.

Miss Catherine Wolverton, of Stroudsburg, was guest speaker and gave an account of time spent at Pocono Plateau. She showed photographs of the camp, of the teachers, and of many guests who had come from far parts of the world. After her talk, she was presented with a gift and corsage by Mrs. Fred Shoemaker, program chairman.

Refreshments were served at pansy-decorated tables. Strawberry Mystery Pecan cake and other goodies provided by the hostess Mrs. Gehm. At that time Miss Schraeder, birthday secretary, presented the society gifts to Mrs. Brockman, Mrs. Ida Staples, Mrs. Joseph Hauser, and Mrs. Bertha Quick.

Those present were Mrs. Brockman, Miss Wolverton, guest speaker, Mrs. Fred Shoemaker, Mrs. George Hay, Mrs. Freida Edinger, Mrs. Laura Osborne, Mrs. George Lee, Mrs. Johanna Krautwurst, Mrs. Inga Brown, Mrs. Mabel Lightner, Mrs. Frances Osborne, Miss Reba Schraeder, Mrs. Ida Staples, Mrs. Stella Ridgeway, Miss Nellie Burd, and Mrs. Gehm. Also present for a few minutes were Otto Gehm and son, Frederick Gehm, and August Kron.

The Women's Society will serve the refreshments to the Daily Vacation Bible School workers and pupils Friday night at the close of the commencement exercises, which are to be held in the Methodist Church.

Girls Guild Entertains Women Of Church

The Woman's Guild of the Zion Reformed Church was entertained by the members of the Girls Guild at the meeting held June 17 at the church.

Mrs. Marion Monahan, Girls Guild advisor, was in charge of the program. Mrs. Douglas Gordon read the scripture and Miss Nora Pipper led the prayer.

Miss Donna Stout introduced Horace Walters who presented colored slides of churches and scenes in Monroe County.

Mrs. Marie Altomose presided at the brief business meeting which followed. A bread and cake sale will be held September 20 at Wyckoff's store.

Members were asked to have donations for the welfare project at the church by Sunday.

Refreshments were served in the church dining room by the Girls' Guild.

Pocono Aux. Today

Tannersville—The Ladies Auxiliary of the Pocono Township Vol. Fire Co. will meet on Thursday, June 19, when members are asked to bring their 10-cent grab bag items for children and 25-cent articles for adults. Because of the added expense of holding the Firemen's Carnival under a tent this year, the auxiliary is making a big effort to help financially as much as possible and enlists the cooperation of all.

Around The Stroudsburgs

Today marks the second birthday of Arlington W. Williams, II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Williams, Colbert St., Stroudsburg.

Jack and Dick Anderson were hosts at a party honoring the 33rd wedding anniversary of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Anderson of Stroudsburg at the Shawnee Country Club. The meeting also marked a reunion of the family after an absence of two years.

Mrs. Susan Harrold spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William George visiting her mother, Mrs. Anna Heller.

Miss Audrey Linaberry is spending the summer with her mother, Mrs. B. M. Linaberry, of Center St., East Stroudsburg, who is recuperating from a broken leg suffered last winter.

Committees Are Named For Swiftwater Bazaar

Swiftwater—At the meeting of the Swiftwater Reformed Ladies Aid, at the home of Mrs. Francis Coffman, Thursday night, Mrs. Elwood Warner announced that the VFW band had been secured for the entertainment at the annual bazaar, July 19. The bazaar will feature cake walks, parcel post sale, grab bag, fancy goods table, and refreshments. Clean-up night in preparation for the event will be July 11.

Committees for the bazaar were appointed as follows: barbecue and hot dogs: Elsie Rowe, Ethel Bach, and Beatrice Bush; ice cream: Grace Kresge, and Cora Warner; soda and candy: Claire Shick and Beulah Coffman; parcel post sale: Gertrude Lindstedt; grab bag: Alta Coffman and Edith Bowman; coffee: Sara Hahn; fancy goods: Margaret Nelson, Sadie Heller, and Beatha Rinker.

Following the secretary's and treasurer's reports, at Thursday's meeting, Mrs. George Hahn, chairman of the recent bake sale committee, gave her report, stating that a sum of $46.30 had been realized.

Mrs. Russell Shick and Mrs. David Nelson were appointed for church care for the month. Hostesses for next month's meeting, which will be held in the social room of the church, will be Mrs. Harry Heller and Mrs. George Hahn.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Coffman, to the following members: Mrs. Russell Bach, Mrs. Walter Coffman, Mrs. Harry Heller, Mrs. Russell Shick, Mrs. Walter Rowe, Mrs. Clarence Rinker, Mrs. Kenneth Westcott, Mrs. Elwood Warner, Mrs. Beatrice Bush, Mrs. George Hahn, and Mrs. David Nelson.

Patriotic Decorations For Smith Class

Flags and Fourth of July decorations marked the refreshment table at the meeting of Mrs. Robert B. Smith's Sunday School class in the social rooms of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church on Tuesday night.

Mrs. Elmira Schmidt, assistant teacher, presided in the absence of Mrs. Smith. She read two poems "The Master is Coming," and "Mother's Day," and an article "Tribute to Mother."

In the social hour which followed Mrs. Alice Shupp won the Bible quiz and Mrs. Freeman the attendance prize.

The hostess committee included Mrs. Elmira Schmidt, Mrs. Erma Schmidt, Mrs. May Smith, Mrs. Edith Dailey, Mrs. Horace Frantz and Mrs. Nettie Kitchen.

Grange To Sponsor Movie

Tannersville—Grange 1415 met Friday night June 13 when reports were made on the roller skating party. The Grange is sponsoring a movie to be open to the public, held in the school, with definite dates to be announced later.

One of the projects has been "Feeding the Piggy," and when the bank was broken open to reveal contents, it was discovered the sum of $14.00 had been accumulated for the new roof fund. The next meeting will be June 27.

After lamenting yesterday morning that birthdays either add years or pounds to one . . . and, in some cases, both . . . it was rather a surprise to find that the Kiwanis Club was celebrating its 30th anniversary and there was still another piece of cake to be eaten.

Of all the splendid service clubs in the Stroudsburgs, I am most familiar with the work of Kiwanis, having served so many years at a desk adjacent to that of Arthur Everett, the organization's long-time secretary. "A. E." was always talking Kiwanis, and snatches of his conversation return even today to remind me of the welfare work done by these business men, and their one highly enjoyable project—the Stroudsburg swimming pool.

Many of the Kiwanians are just as I remember them from the days when they'd stop by the Record Office regularly for conversation with the editor. Fortunately Attorney Arlington W. Williams, yesterday's program chairman, and Architect Harold Rinker were among this group, and that, with President Gilbert Smrz presiding, made it apparent that we were among friends. But there are new faces too . . . so many of them as a matter of fact, that one becomes impressed anew with Stroudsburg's wonderful record of growth.

It was an enjoyable experience to meet with this organization and speak upon the history of Wyckoff's. But as Arthur Widmer was showing the pictures of the store's development, I kept thinking of Daniel and Jacob Wyckoff, and how they would react to the most recent chapters of our store history. Certainly, when they left New Jersey in their Conestoga wagon back in 1830, intent upon establishing a business here, they never dreamed they would be discussed at a service club luncheon 102 years later. A century unfolds rather quickly. In fact, it seems like a comparatively short span of time, until we glance from the office window into the sunny chasm of our present Main street, and try to visualize it as seen by them on their first trip here in 1848. Who, at that time, could have dreamed of self service stores, parking meters and trailer trucks?

Good things begin and, because they are good, grow and flourish. It is true of nations, businesses and organizations. In 1922 the Kiwanians, headed by such men as Superior Court Judge Chester Rhodes, then vice president, organized with 50 members. This is approximately half of the present membership. Throughout the world, incidentally, there are more than 3000 Kiwanis groups devoted to the same high principles. Wyckoff's extends sincere best wishes both to the club and its individual members for a prosperous, golden future.

Seven-Year-Old 'Veteran' Actress To Spend Summer At Mother's Camp In Bushkill Area

By James B. Gaffney

Saturday will mark a big day in the life of seven and a half year old Judy Wisman.

This bright young television star will take leave of the brilliant glare of TV's spotlights, depart from the arena of harsh-barking producers and directors and the whimsical inhibitions of many of her adult co-workers to settle down for the summer months at her mother's haven near Bushkill.

Already a veteran in America's far-reaching dramatic and musical fields, Judy has gained recognition throughout the East for her portrayals in documentary films and through the medium of TV.

While no Broadway plays are recorded in her four and a half year old notebook of appearances, it is expected she will enter this work in the Fall when the Great White Way again resumes its activity.

To Judy's mother, Mrs. Eloise Wisman, a registered nurse, the youngster's stalwart performances have not faded her social standing, interfered with her education or brought out the air of egotism that would be easily excusable in view of the realm of stardom into which she has entered.

"Judy is a perfectly normal child," her mother asserts. "The bright lights and many magazine articles and photographs have never turned her head. She just takes everything in its stride."

The only child of Mr. and Mrs. Wisman, who lives at Oceanside, Long Island, N. Y., Judy was just three years old when she played Hans Christian Andersen's "Match Girl" in the Children's Theater, Greenwich Village. Later she did a dramatic role in a specially adapted version of Alice in Wonderland and appeared in newsreels, March of Time and several religious and educational films.

When television beckoned Judy was quick to take hold and has appeared on the Fred Waring Show, Colgate's Comedy Hour (with Eddie Cantor), Show of Shows, Captain Video, Don Ameche's program, Craft Theater, Suspense and many other nationally known productions.

"It doesn't take Judy long to learn the script," her mother said. "And at her school in Oceanside where she just finished her second year, the principal allows her to attend classes in the morning only since she spends the afternoon getting ready for her programs. Even by missing afternoon sessions she still is among the tops in her classroom work."

Besides being an accomplished actress, young Judy performs admirably as a songstress and dancer and did just such a routine not too long ago on Arthur Godfrey's show. She also sings in the church choir and appears in many benefit performances in the metropolitan district.

JUDY WISMAN, seven and one-half year old television actress who will spend the Summer in the Poconos with her mother, is shown here in a typical acting pose.

Her mother is her teacher and is credited with skyrocketing her daughter to success. Mrs. Wisman holds a master of arts degree in nursing and is a teacher at Fordham School of Nursing, New York. This marks her initial year as operator of Camp El-Ju-Pa, about eight miles north of Stroudsburg, where Judy and many of her friends will spend the Summer. A child's summer camp, El-Ju-Pa is a non-sectarian haven for boys and girls from five to 16.

Judy expects some of her TV playmates to join her at the camp soon. The Walker children, Kenny, Ronnie and Glen are among those who are best known to television followers. Kenny has been featured with Enzo Pinza.

Once the curtain rings down on the summer series of leisure, Judy heads into third grade in

Giants Use Circuit Blows To Take Measure Of Pirates, 5-2

New York (AP)—Bobby Thomson rapped four hits, including a pair of homers, and Jim Hearn pitched seven-hit ball to give the New York Giants a 5-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday.

Thomson's two circuit smashes, each with nobody on base, were his third and fourth in three days and boosted his season's total to an even dozen.

The slugging third baseman also slugged a pair of singles and batted in three runs during the afternoon to give him a total of 54 runs batted in, second only to "Hank" Sauer's 68 RBIs.

Centerfielder "Hank" Thomson chipped in with a single and an inside-the-park homer which was one of the longest ever hit in the Polo Grounds. The ball hit the top of the right field bullpen wall, 450 feet away and earned back toward centerfield.

All the runs were obtained off Bob Friend, who hurled the first five innings for the Pirates. He was followed by Joe Mauer and Ronnie Kluge.

Hearn, who contributed three hits himself, had a shutout until the ninth when George Melkovich followed Pete Castiglione's single with a home run.

Dick Groat, the Pirates' $75,000 bonus shortstop from Duke University, made his major league debut as a pinch hitter in the eighth and bounced meekly back to Hearn, who threw him out.

Pittsburgh — 000 000 002—2 7 0
New York — 102 029 005—5 10 0

Yankees Win Over Tigers, 10-6

Detroit (AP)—Gene Woodling and Billy Martin of the New York Yankees crushed Art Houtteman with successive eighth-inning home runs and Yogi Berra powered a sixth-inning homer to push the first place Yankees to a 10 to 6 victory over the last place Detroit Tigers yesterday.

Dodgers Edge Cubs In Tenth

Brooklyn (AP)—Scoring the decisive run without the aid of a hit, the Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday nipped the Chicago Cubs, 6-5, in a 10-inning struggle to retain their National League lead of four games over the New York Giants.

Jackie Robinson, because of some brilliant base-running, carried over the winning run in the 10th, scoring from third on a long fly by Gil Hodges with one out.

Walk

Robinson had opened the last of the 10th by coaxing a walk from "Dutch" Leonard. The flashy second baseman immediately stole second for the third time in the game and went to third when catcher Toby Atwell dropped a third strike on Roy Campanella that permitted the Brooklyn catcher to reach first.

Carl Furillo struck out and "Duke" Snider was intentionally passed before Hodges broke up the game with his fly to "Hank" Sauer in left.

The Cubs apparently had the game won when pinch hitter Bob Addis connected with a home run with two mates aboard in the top of the ninth to give his team a temporary 5-4 lead. The Dodgers, however, bounced right back to knot the count at 5-5 when Furillo and Snider hit back-to-back doubles in Brooklyn's half of the ninth.

Chicago — 101 000 003 0—5 11 2
Brooklyn — 100 100 201 1—6 7 0

Homer

Vic Wertz, who feasts on the pitching of winning hurler Johnny Sain, blasted a three-run homer in the eighth to narrow the score to 7-6. But the Yanks parlayed three walks, a wild pitch and Gil McDougald's two-run single for the cinching runs in the ninth inning.

Sain had held the Tigers to three hits, including Walt Dropo's two-run homer in the fourth, until the Tigers opened up in the eighth inning. Bob Hogue replaced Sain after Wertz' homer and held the Tigers scoreless.

New York — 020 001 133—10 8 1
Detroit — 000 200 040—6 12 0

Final American Bows In Golf

Troon, Scotland (AP)—Mae Murray, America's last survivor, fought her way into the semifinals of the British Women's Amateur Golf Championship yesterday only to lose to England's Frances Stephens, winner of the title in 1949, in her afternoon match.

Miss Stephens scored a five and three victory after fatigue, chill winds and sand traps took the edge of the game of the wee lass from Rutland, Vt.

Through a day of triumph and disappointment, the shy 25-year-old Miss Murray never lifted her eyes from the fairway. After her was all over she said: "Miss Stephens played very fine golf. I was just not good enough this afternoon to beat her."

Miss Murray puts every ounce of her five foot, two inches behind her tee shots.

Group Notes Importance Of Crystals

Tamiment—The contributions made to modern science by the study of crystals in solid matter were outlined last night before members of the American Crystallographic Association.

In the major address scheduled for the session on the 40th anniversary of the discovery of x-ray diffraction in matter, Dr. R. W. G. Wyckoff of the U. S. Public Health Service noted the "amazing advances" made by physicists and biologists through the use of facts gleaned from the study of crystals.

The beginning of the sub-science, Wyckoff pointed out, may be traced to the year 1912 when the German physicist M. Von Laue completed his first experiment in observing crystal formations.

In 1914 Von Laue was awarded the Nobel prize for "outstanding contribution to humanity" in the field of physics.

Since that time, crystallography has become one of the most important special scientific fields.

Prior to Von Laue's discovery, the prevailing scientific theory had been that crystals could be found only in gases and other "restricted" matter.

When Von Laue's experiments were tested, physicists found it was then possible to find out the arrangement of molecules in crystals. This, in turn, made a study of molecular change in solid substances feasible.

Von Laue's discovery of the "phenomenon of x-ray diffraction by crystals" has led to enormous strides in the fields of atomic science, contributing directly to the development of energy through fission.

During the past ten years, the theory has led to notable achievements in the field of anti-biotics used in combating disease.

Wyckoff and other scientists in the Public Health Service have pioneered in the study of crystallography as it pertains to the human body.

This anatomical analysis is especially slanted at diseases of "old age" and the general, physical change of the human anatomy in advanced maturity.

In recent years, the study of "crystals" has been greatly advanced by U. S. industry, Wyckoff said. "Almost all large corporations now maintain" large laboratories for research in the science.

Among the many industries "directly affected" by crystallography research are all types of metallurgy, plastics, ceramics and glass.

Nearly all universities in this country now have similar research laboratories manned by top scientists in the field, Wyckoff said.

Attending the full-week session of the association are representatives from all over the nation.

The American Crystallographic Association now has 650 members and is a combination of all the various societies in this country devoted to the science.

Wyckoff, the retiring president of the organization, is a native of upper state New York, and is a "distant cousin" of Stroudsburg's Ernest H. Wyckoff, president of A. B. Wyckoff, Inc., Stroudsburg.

The presidency of the organization has now been assumed by Prof. P. P. Ewald, head of the department of physics at Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute, who presided at the current meeting.

Continuous discussion sessions are slated from now through Saturday at Camp Tamiment where the scientists have assembled a giant display of instruments used in their research.

Dr. C. H. Rushmore will be out of town from June 15th to June 29th.—Adv.

Dr. R. W. G. Wyckoff

Reports Given At Meeting Of Bushkill PTA

Bushkill—The Bushkill Parent Teachers Association met Friday night with Frank Messerie, president, presiding.

A business meeting was held and the following reports were given by respective chairmen of committees: Mrs. Lawrence Butz reported that the items for the auction sale were not accumulating too rapidly and it was expected that many more articles would be collected during the day and would not be able to attend. The sale will start at 7 p.m. Friday, June 20.

Mrs. Chester Brish, chairman of the bazaar committee stated that letters have been sent throughout the community asking for home-made items and baked goods for the July 30 bazaar to be held at the Peters House store.

Messerie appointed Mrs. J. K. Britton, Mrs. E. B. Bartram and Mrs. Butz to serve on a motion picture committee. This committee will function in respect to obtaining films to be shown to the children during meeting nights starting in September. It was also decided to charge $3 for the rental of the motion picture projector to organizations of the community. The PTA will furnish an operator with the machine.

The next meeting of the PTA will be held on Friday, July 18.

POS Of A To Canvass For Heavy Vote

At the district convention of the Patriotic Order Sons of America held at local headquarters of the order on S. Sixth St., plans were completed for a county-wide organization for the purpose of getting eligible voters registered, and then to get them to vote at the November General Election.

Every camp in the county will form its own local committee, and a county-wide program will be worked out.

Dale H. Learn, chairman of the work, said the POS of A will cooperate with all other organizations to make a house-to-house canvass to induce people to register and vote.

The order also voted unanimously to again conduct the "What America Means to Me" high school essay contest during the coming Winter and Spring. Asher Resh of Monroe Hills was appointed chairman of the contest. Mr. Resh will cooperate with County Superintendent of Schools, John C. Litts. Prizes will be awarded winners in every high school in the county for the winning essays.

Action was also taken to sponsor a team in the "Little Baseball League" just as soon as possible. In fact, it may be possible to sponsor several teams throughout the county. Calvin Counterman of East Stroudsburg pointed out that this was one of the best ways possible to combat juvenile delinquency.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: president, Earl Rose, Mountainhome; vice president, Asher Resh, Monroe Hills; master of forms, Ray Steele Sr., Bushkill; conductor, Gerald Tyreman, East Stroudsburg; inspector, Clifford Bush, Cresco; guard and treasurer, Ed Butts, of East Stroudsburg; and secretary, Jack Swineford, East Stroudsburg. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by a committee composed of Clyde D. Learn, Irvin Albert and Percy Marvin. Pearly D. Hunt, retiring president, presided at the meeting.

vid Nelson family were Mr. and Mrs. James Arrowsmith, their daughter, Mrs. Myrtle Jones and her daughters, Joyce and Gloria, of Forest City and Mrs. William Nelson Sr., of Mt. Pocono. Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Batchler were Mr. and Mrs. Preston Post and twins, Allen and Emmett of East Stroudsburg and Jerry Denton, of Massachusetts.

Mrs. Betty Swift of Brooklyn, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Hahn and her son, Charles, during the weekend.
